The Jurassic Coast; the biggest story on Earth
Presented by Richard Edmonds

Walk through time and coast photograph from Guy Kerr, Jurassic Coast Trust

A look at the Dorset and East Devon coast World Heritage Site; 185 million years of the Earth's geological history explored in the global context of plate tectonics, extinction events and the evolutionary steps that eventually led to us.

Richard Edmonds is a geologist and fossil collector, former Earth Science Manager for the Site and the first warden of the Charmouth Heritage Coast Centre.
